A person who should be treated in an hospital does not have to go a depressed and usual hospital. Rather than being an hospital, this center provides public relation with the patients. The location of center is the intersection point of different urban sections which people can easily reach. The aim of center is providing both healthcare, social activities together with treatment. So, with the ambiance of space and urban pattern, the cognition of people to the healthy life is renewed. A citizen is able to continue his/her own physical activities such as biking, walking, swimming. Also, in terms of the social cognition, the exhibition areas contribute to people to learn about health. So, these variations help to people in their healing processes by providing attractive environment.
