

Graduates of double major associate degree programs can transfer via DGS exam to undergraduate programs that are a continuation of the fields they have completed.